

The future shape of the Holderness landscape will soon be decided. The visual qualities described in both the Roos Village Design Statement and the Roos Parish Plan may be lost if planning approval is granted for all wind farms currently under development.

It will be recalled that in November 2005, Roos Parish Council conducted a survey of public opinion in response to plans to construct 3 wind turbines at Tedder Hill. The outcome resulted in a policy to oppose all wind turbine developments within the Parish.

Later, two further wind farm planning applications were lodged, one for 11 turbines at Sunderland Farm near Roos and the other for 7 turbines at Monkwith near Hilston/Tunstall.

The ERYC refused all three applications.

Now, an appeal has been made to the Planning Inspectorate against the refusal of the Tedder Hill application with a final decision to be made following a Public Inquiry, later this year. (http://www.eon-uk.com/generation/tedderhill.aspx)

The Sunderland Farm application has been revised and re-submitted as Roos Wind Farm with 9 turbines. (http://www.res-group.com/news--links/press-releases/2008.aspx)

In the meantime, an application for 3 turbines at Burton Pidsea, has recently been approved by the ERYC. Whilst this development is outside the parish, it will be clearly visible from Roos and surrounding areas.

Further afield, at Withernwick, a planning application for nine wind turbines was initially withdrawn by the developer but later re-submitted. This application was refused by the ERYC.

This decision is also the subject of an appeal.

In addition a further application for around 56 turbines 8km off-shore from Tunstall at the Westermost Rough site is expected later in the year. These turbines will be clearly visible. (The gas storage platforms seen out to sea off Withernsea are 21 km's away). (http://www.dongenergy.com/WestermostRough/index.htm)

Finally, the fully-operational wind farm at Out Newton can also be seen from the Parish.

If all these developments are approved then their cumulative impact will completely change the landscape of Holderness.

Whilst the actions of the renewable energy companies are unwelcome to many residents, they are understandable and were to be expected! They were unlikely to give up at the first hurdle having invested multi thousands in development and planning. An appeal or a resubmission is just the next step in their overall planning strategy.

The matter is unlikely to be concluded until all the planning procedures are exhausted, and they are either approved or refused. They are simply doing their job!

However, the planning outcomes are matters of crucial importance for the majority of residents in Holderness. It is they, not those who live far away, who will suffer from the adverse effects that extensive wind farm developments are likely to bring, should they all be approved.

Their impact upon the rural environment and the local land and seascape is unimaginable. The presently wide open views and broad skies will certainly be lost.

There will be noise and disruption during their construction. When operational there are likely to be problems for those living nearby caused by turbine blade flicker, flashing warning lights and turbine noise. Their potential impact upon property values and local tourism is uncertain, but it is unlikely that they will be enhanced. There is much at stake!

It is for these reasons that countless individuals, Parish and Ward Councillors, together with local groups and organisations have come together to contest these applications. They have committed their time, energy, and personal financial resources, in undertaking research, attending and speaking at planning meetings, and not least writing countless letters of objection. Hardly a stone has been left unturned!

Between these two positions the ERYC are obliged to remain neutral.

Whatever their personal opinion, planning officers have to work within existing national, regional and local planning policies and established planning criteria. These policies were established following extensive research and widespread consultation.

Presently, the ERYC are developing future local planning policies within national and regional guidelines. They are consulting widely. Roos Parish Council has submitted its response.

It is interesting to note.

Para: 3.2.1 of the ERYC Draft Interim Planning Document, which states:

"The East Riding of Yorkshire Council contains areas of low, medium and high sensitivity to wind development, as well as areas of very high sensitivity. There (sic) operational wind farms at Out Newton (north of Easington and north of the Humber estuary), at the Waste Water Treatment Works at Saltend (east of Hull) and at Loftsome Bridge Water Treatment Works (north of Barmby on the Marsh). In addition, a number of other wind developments (both within and near to the East Riding boundary) have either been given permission or are applying for permission. As a result, the area of land available for further wind farm developments may be reduced, in order to prevent potential adverse cumulative effects on landscape and local visual amenity." (http://www.eastriding.gov.uk/planning/ldf/)

(Note the final paragraph!)

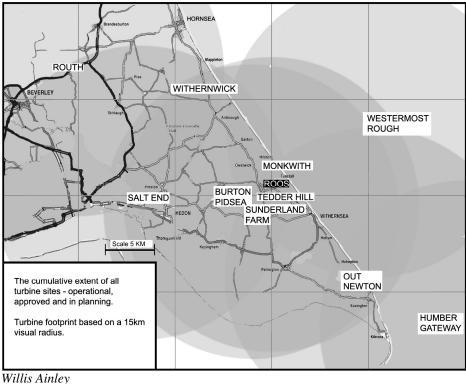

Elsewhere in documentation, further considerations include:

- a separation distance between schemes should be established, in order to avoid negative cumulative impacts, particularly visual impact. A distance of 15km is suggested;
- the undeveloped coastal area, mainly east of the B1242 and A 1033 should be protected;
- a 5km safety buffer around airfields should be considered;
- a 400m buffer around settlements should be maintained;
- the impact upon Conservation Areas and Listed buildings should be taken into account.

There are many others too numerous to list in the space available here.

Cookery Corner by Gerard Baker

Catfish kebab with bacon and new potatoes.

A really simple kebab – the catfish benefits Method: from the seasoning of smoked bacon and Soak four would be delicious with grilled tomatoes and avocado – a lovely mixture. All you need is a wedge of lemon on the side and a glass of something delicious. If you cannot find catfish, then Ling or Coley would be just as good. Shaun and Penny at the fish shop in Withernsea often stock both. white ash

For Four:

500-600g catfish – boned weight, cut into 2cm cubes.

Four rashers smoked streaky bacon.

350g small new potatoes, boiled until just cooked.

Salad:

Two bunches watercress Four large aromatic tomatoes Two ripe avocadoes One lemon Olive oil Sea salt and black pepper Soak four bamboo skewers in warm water for an hour or so.

Skewer the catfish, potatoes and bacon onto the sticks and set aside until ready to cook.

Prepare your fire – and let the coals burn down until they are covered with a layer of white ash.

Halve the tomatoes and season, sprinkling with a little olive oil. Grill until they are browned and beginning to soften. Set aside to cool for a few minutes.

Grill the kebabs for about four minutes on each side, until the fish is cooked – taste a bit to see.

Arrange the tomatoes on your plates with the watercress, avocado and season with oil, sea salt and black pepper. Serve with the kebabs.

This can also be cooked under a domestic grill.

TUNSTALL NEWS

Surveyors have been to oversee the site for the New Barrier at Tunstall Drain. The Barrier hopefully will help to alleviate the sea from flooding all the land. Construction will begin shortly.

Bulbs

April is the time for bulbs. If possible deadhead daffodils to ensure they build up for next year. Let them die back naturally which usually takes around six weeks and do not tie them up. Snowdrops and crocus are left to seed.

Herbaceous Borders

These will probably need a tidy up. Trim back old dead stems, Fuchsias can be cut back now. Staking using bushy twigs or canes etc should be put in early to allow plants to grow gradually around the supports.

Greenhouse

Increase watering now for plants including cacti. Water in the morning so that any damp patches on leaves can dry out before nightfall. If your greenhouse is not heated now is the time for sowing your bedding plants for the summer.

General

Water new plants regularly. Give your lawn a boost with a proprietary weed and feed. Mulch shrub borders with bark or homemade compost. Remove dead wood from Hydrangeas. Plant onion sets.

Roos Women's Institute

Roos WI meeting held on 1st April at 7.30pm in the Memorial Institute, Roos.

The President Mrs H Boynton opened the meeting and welcomed members.

The business part of the meeting included a future visit to Helmsley in June, theatre trip in May, bird watching at Blacktoft Sands and a visit to the West Yorkshire Mills in August with a call at Harry Ramsden's for tea.

Our speaker Patsy Harrison gave us a talk about 'incontinence'. In degrees of mild to severe cases help is available. Mrs Harrison made the whole evening humorous and informative and we all learned a lot about a subject rarely mentioned. An excellent vote of thanks was given by Mrs Pat Brown.

Refreshments were then served and competitions judged.

A sample of handwriting:- 1st Mrs S Tyson 2nd Mrs B Travis.

Flower of the month:- 1st Mrs C Charlesworth with Hellebores 2nd Mrs J Grant with a very unusual daffodil and 3rd Mrs D Simpkins with primroses.

Mrs Boynton thanked everyone for attending. The next meeting is on 6th May.

New members are very welcome.

Dear Rooster readers,

I would like to begin by saying that I hope you have all had a really joyful Easter! This must surely be the greatest of all our Christian celebrations as we remember again how Jesus conquered death for us and opened the way to eternal life. Some of our Easter customs remind us of this. For example some people say that the shape of our Easter egg is like the shape of the tomb or cave from which Jesus rose. There is also the ancient custom of egg-rolling! This is said to remind us of the stone being rolled away from the entrance to the tomb. Perhaps we can remember this as we break open our Easter eggs!

With good wishes, Pam Burdon

Apologies: My apologies to a few parishioners who received The Rooster last month. I think I did an Eric Morecambe. All the pages were there, but not necessarily in the correct order. Sorry for the mix-up. Ann Coupe

The Rooster Association AGM

The Annual General Meeting was held on 19th March in The Black Horse. Fifteen persons attended and there were ten apologies for absence.

Bob Feetom

At the start of the evening a one-minute silence was observed in memory of Bob Feetom, a staunch supporter and Committee member who died in January.

Discussion session

Before the AGM proper there was an informal session for discussion, in which many took part. The main topics were the children's page, the editing of articles submitted, the profiles of local personages and the prohibitive cost of printing photographs in colour.

Refreshments

Light refreshments were then available, provided by Committee members.

The Annual General Meeting

Chairman's Report

After the reading and approval of the Minutes, Alec Dodson reviewed the year. The new booklet format had been the main innovation. It had proved widely popular and increased the newsletter's public esteem.

He thanked all who had helped the newsletter in any way, in particular Ann Coupe who organized its editing and distribution and Lawson Lewis who laid it out and printed it. He also thanked the proof readers and deliverers and Ron and Denise Symes at The Black Horse for the use of their premises.

Treasurer's Report

Ken Cross said that some financial details had appeared in the February newsletter. Although the number of donors was roughly the same, donation income had increased, as also had income from advertisements. The new laser printer had saved over £500 in 2008.

Elections

There were no new nominations. The existing officers and committee were re-elected.

Chairman	Alec Dodson	Other Committee members
Vice-Chairman	Ann Coupe	Willis Ainley	Lawson Lewis
Secretary	Leslie Helliwell	Margaret Dodson	Tracey Proby
Treasurer	Ken Cross	Alicja Feetom

Other business

The Chairman thanked Ann Coupe and Margaret Dodson for organising the evening's refreshments.

Ann Coupe apologised that some March newsletters might have had pages stapled in the wrong order.

Next AGM

February 2010, the venue and precise date to be decided by the Committee.

TRADE SECRETS

Motoring Column by Justin Credible

Welcome to a new section in The Rooster where I aim to cover things that may interest the car-buying public.

If the national press or TV reports are to be believed then car dealers all over the country are in trouble due to the recession and car sales plummeting in value and large cars - especially 4x4's are virtually worthless.

The truth, however, couldn't be more different and for the first three months of the year we have seen massive used-car inflation. Dealers are in the main ignoring book values and used cars (vehicles over three years old) have risen about 20 - 30%.

The reason why this is happening is that the natural supply of used cars has dried up. New cars aren't selling, and it is the part exchanges from the sale of new vehicles that supplies the used-car industry.

It's simply the laws of supply and demand. There is a constant demand for used cars but very little supply.

Even 4x4's and larger vehicles have shot up in value as the public now see them as excellent value after their initial drop when the government tried to tax them off the road with excessive road fund licence fees. This was disguised as a green tax, but was never going to work. If you can afford £60,000 for a new Range Rover you are hardly likely to be put off by a £400 tax disc. Similarly when second-hand they are such good value that customers put up with the high cost so that they can own a beautiful car. The car does the same mileage - gives off the same emissions. So what was green about it???

There are many dealers locally who have actually increased the prices of the cars on their forecourt as it is difficult to replace them when sold. Across the country auction houses are a mad frenzy of panic buying.

The government are looking at "scrappage" which has worked on the continent to stimulate new car sales. Scrappage means that if you scrap a car nine years or older and buy a new or one-year-old car the government will subsidise the cost of the new car for you. At the time of writing they haven't decided how much yet but it looks as if it will be around the £2,000 mark.

Until then - or some form of financial stability - it seems that we are stuck with used car inflation. So if you are looking to change your car and the dealer quotes a book value for your old one remember that it is probably worth considerably more, for the moment anyway. Justin
